The National Crime Prevention Council is a private, nonprofit tax-exempt [501(c)(3)] organization whose principal mission is to enable people to prevent crime and build safer, more caring communities. NCPC publishes books, kits of camera-ready program materials, posters, and informational and policy reports on a variety of crime prevention and community-building subjects. NCPC offers training, technical assistance, and national focus for crime prevention: it acts as secretariat for the Crime Prevention Coalition of America, more than 4,000 national, federal, local, and state organizations committed to preventing crime. It also operates demonstration programs in cities and towns across America and takes a major leadership role in youth crime prevention. NCPC manages the McGruff "Take A Bite Out Of Crime[®]" public service advertising campaign, which is substantially funded by the Bureau of Justice Assistance, Office of Justice Programs, U.S. Department of Justice. Proceeds from the sale of materials funded by public sources are used to help support NCPC's work on the National Citizens' Crime Prevention Campaign.

Dear Fellow American,

On the morning of September 11, 2001, America faced both an indescribable tragedy and an extraordinary challenge. Americans everywhere summoned their strength and rose to this challenge. And every time citizens gave their blood, their time, or their money, they sent a message to the cowards who committed these heinous acts—that the American spirit would stand strong and unwavering.

Americans have a history of great courage and great resolve. We must continue that great tradition. And so, like the many courageous generations before us, we must act.

We can act by working to prepare and protect our families and communities. The guide you are about to read will help tell Americans the simple steps they can take to do just that. It is a resource for the millions of citizens who want to respond to the President's call to make preparedness a part of our daily lives. Please read it carefully. The common-sense advice collected here could save lives.

Your country has never needed you more. It is only your commitment to protecting your family and neighbors that will truly make the difference. Thank you for your dedication to standing united to make America stronger.

Warmest regards,

John Ashcroft
Attorney General

Dear Reader,

The horrible attacks of September 11, resulting in unspeakable tragedy, showed us man's ugliest face. Immediately afterwards, we saw mankind's most beautiful face, as we witnessed acts of generosity—people giving time, money, food, blood, even their lives.

Crime, and in this case, terrorism, can isolate us, driving us to huddle alone in fear. But our actions, as citizens of this wonderful country, must be the opposite. We must use the events of September 11 not to paralyze, but to spur commitment—to our families, to our neighbors, to preparation, and to reporting crime. It is a time that calls for passionate civic involvement, to connection with others. Since that day, you have asked what you can do to be safe and what part you can play in helping others. This booklet attempts to respond to your questions.

The heart of prevention is watch out and help out, self protection and reporting, and creating neighborhoods and communities in which citizens are active and contributing.

We thank you for answering the call, rolling up your sleeves, and doing your part to help keep America safe and strong.

Introduction

I call on all Americans to serve by bettering our communities and, thereby, defy and defeat the terrorists.”

President George W. Bush, November 8, 2001

On November 9, 2001, President Bush called for recommendations on how Americans can be better prepared for the potential consequences of any future terrorist attacks and how they can participate in preventing such attacks.

The Citizens' Preparedness Guide provides suggestions for preparedness in our homes, neighborhoods, schools, workplaces, places of worship, and public areas. These recommendations stem from the attacks against our country, but Americans will also benefit from increased awareness and preparedness for any type of emergency.

The goal of this guide is to help Americans learn how to make preparedness a part of their daily lives and improve their neighborhoods and communities in the process. Through service to others and good citizenship, we can become a better country, and a better prepared country. Together, we will be united for a stronger America.

What You Can Do

Your federal, state, and local law enforcement and government agencies are working hard every day to prevent terrorism in America. But there are some things that you can do, too.

- ☆ Know the routines. Be alert as you go about your daily business. This will help you to learn the normal routines of your neighborhood, community, and workplace. Understanding these routines will help you to spot anything out of place.
- ☆ Be aware. Get to know your neighbors at home and while traveling. Be on the lookout for suspicious activities such as unusual conduct in your neighborhood, in your workplace, or while traveling. Learn to spot suspicious packages, luggage, or mail abandoned in a crowded place like an office building, an airport, a school, or a shopping center.
- ☆ Take what you hear seriously. If you hear or know of someone who has bragged or talked about plans to harm citizens in violent attacks or who claims membership in a terrorist organization, take it seriously and report it to law enforcement immediately.

How To Get Prepared

Being prepared for an emergency involves learning as much as you can and making plans to act. Reading this guide and following these tips is a good start. Continue to educate yourself by keeping up with our Web site at www.weprevent.org and contacting the resources listed in the back of this guide.

President Bush and the entire federal team are working with states, local officials, and citizens to form a Citizen Corps, a part of the newly created USA Freedom Corps, which will help citizens organize community-based efforts to prevent, prepare for, and respond to potential terrorist attacks. Information about how you can participate in the Citizen Corps is available on the Web site, www.citizencorps.gov, and by calling 1-800-USACORPS.

In Your Home and Neighborhood

Take steps to plan ahead for emergencies to protect yourself and your family. Your family and neighbors need to know exactly what they should do in an emergency.

Concerned citizens like you can take the following steps:

GENERAL EMERGENCY PREPAREDNESS

- ☆ Make a list of important local numbers. Make copies of the cards on page 24 of this guide and write down important local numbers, such as the non-emergency numbers for the police department, fire department, and FBI field office. Keep it by the phone and make copies for yourself and your family to keep in your wallets.
- ☆ Write down phone numbers and contact information for your family. Keep one copy by the phone and provide others to family and friends.

How To Get Prepared

The American Red Cross and the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) provide information about what to include in supply kits and how to learn about CPR and First Aid training in your neighborhood. To find out more, contact the American Red Cross at 1-866-GET-INFO (866-438-4636) or www.redcross.org, and FEMA at 1-800-480-2520 or www.fema.gov/pte/displan.htm.

- ☆ Make a neighborhood directory and plan. Include emergency contact information and plans for children and seniors who may be home alone during emergency situations. Identify neighbors who need additional help, such as young children, seniors, and those with disabilities, and develop a plan to assist them in an emergency.
- ☆ Make your house easy to find. Make sure your street address number is large and well lighted so that emergency personnel can find your home quickly.
- ☆ Organize an emergency preparedness kit. Check batteries, change the stored water, and rotate the food supplies every six months. Your kit should contain the following supplies:
 - ☆ A three-to-five-day supply of water (one gallon per person per day)
 - ☆ Food that will not spoil and requires no cooking
 - ☆ A first-aid kit and needed medicines (consult your physician or pharmacist about storing medications and keep copies of your prescriptions)
 - ☆ Emergency tools like a battery-powered radio, cell phones, flashlight, and extra batteries
 - ☆ Personal items like toilet paper and plastic garbage bags
 - ☆ A portable emergency generator if possible.

EVACUATION PLANS

- ☆ Develop a home evacuation plan and practice it with your family and neighbors. Know what to do if you are instructed to evacuate your home or community.
 - ☆ Every child and other member of your family should know exactly how to get out of your home in case of fire or other emergency.
 - ☆ Find at least two ways out of each room in your home if possible.
 - ☆ If you live in an apartment building, know the evacuation plan.
 - ☆ Agree on a place nearby to meet once everyone gets out of the house or apartment.
- ☆ Plan how to take care of pets. Remember that, with the exception of guide dogs, shelters usually do not allow pets.
- ☆ Learn how to shut off utilities such as gas, electricity, and water.

OPENING MAIL

- ☆ Teach your family and friends to be aware when opening the mail. Signs of suspicious mail include the following:
 - ☆ It is unexpected or from someone you don't know.
 - ☆ It is addressed to someone no longer at your address.
 - ☆ It is handwritten, has no return address, or bears a return address that you cannot confirm is legitimate.
 - ☆ It is lopsided or lumpy in appearance.
 - ☆ It has wires or other unusual contents that are protruding or can be felt through the envelope or wrapping.
 - ☆ It is sealed with excessive amounts of tape.
 - ☆ It is marked with restrictive endorsements such as “Personal” or “Confidential.”
 - ☆ It has excessive postage.

How To Get Prepared

☆ What you should do with a suspicious piece of mail:

- ☆ Do not handle a letter or package that you suspect is contaminated.
- ☆ Stay away from the package and don't shake it, bump it, or sniff it.
- ☆ Wash your hands thoroughly with soap and water after handling.
- ☆ Notify local law enforcement authorities immediately.

ON YOUR COMPUTER

☆ Teach your family about cyber safety and use of the Internet. Many Americans do not know that their computer systems are used to launch attacks against government and industry, often to steal or destroy information such as financial data or even personal identities. To protect yourself, do the following:

- ☆ Be wary of strangers.
- ☆ Report unusual activities to the authorities.
- ☆ Use passwords that cannot be easily guessed.
- ☆ Make regular backups of critical data.
- ☆ Use virus protection software.
- ☆ Use a firewall as a gatekeeper between your computer and the Internet.
- ☆ Disconnect computers from the Internet when they are not in use.
- ☆ Regularly download security patches from your software vendors.

GENERAL SAFETY TIPS

Make sure your streets and homes are well lighted.

Make sure every external door has a sturdy, well-installed dead-bolt lock. Key-in-the-knob locks alone are not enough.

Keep your yard clean. Prune shrubbery so that it does not hide doors or windows. Cut tree limbs that could be used to climb to an upper-level window.

If you travel, create the illusion that you are at home by getting timers that will turn lights on and off in different areas of your house throughout the evening. Lights burning 24 hours a day signal an empty house.

Instead of hiding keys around the outside of your home, give an extra key to a neighbor you trust.

FOR YOUR CHILDREN

Preparing your family means making sure that your children know what to do during an emergency. Tell them what is important so that they feel confident about what to do.

- ☆ Teach your children to stay in touch. Make it a house rule for your children to check in with a parent or guardian immediately when they get home from school or other activities.

- ☆ Make sure your children know how to contact you at work.
- ☆ Make sure your children know the address where they live, including nearby cross streets and landmarks. Be sure your children know their home phone number, including the area code.
- ☆ Work with neighbors to find places that are safe for children and teens to go in an emergency. These places might include a friend's house, fire station, police station, school, library, or place of worship. The best place for a child during a crisis may very well be the school where they will be supervised and protected from outside hazards. Ensure that your children know the phone numbers and addresses of these locations.

- ☆ Explain 9-1-1. Talk to your children about how to call 9-1-1 and when calling it is appropriate.
- ☆ Teach your children and teens how to be safe. Tell them to seek help immediately from a teacher, law enforcement officer, or other security personnel if they overhear classmates threatening to hurt themselves or others.

How To Get Prepared

AT WORK

An emergency can happen at any time. You and your co-workers should know what to do if an emergency happens during the workday.

- ☆ Learn about your company's emergency plans. Ensure that a plan is developed if one is not in place.
- ☆ Practice your company's emergency plans, including evacuation plans. Evacuation plans need to be legible and posted prominently on each floor.
- ☆ Know the exit routes and evacuation plans in your building. Know at least two exit routes from each room, if possible. Be able to escape in the dark by knowing how many desks or cubicles are between your workstation and two of the nearest exits.
- ☆ Have a designated post-evacuation meeting location where appropriate personnel can take a headcount and identify missing workers. Every employee should be aware of this location.
- ☆ Make special emergency plans for co-workers who are disabled or may require assistance during an emergency.
- ☆ Know the location of fire extinguishers and medical kits. Periodically check extinguishers and alarm systems.
- ☆ Make a list of important phone numbers. Keep a printed list at your desk and near other telephones. Do not rely on electronic lists, direct-dial phone numbers, or computer organizers that may not work in an emergency.
- ☆ Gather personal emergency supplies in a desk drawer, including a flashlight, walking shoes, a water bottle, and nonperishable food.

☆ Report damaged or malfunctioning safety systems to appropriate personnel for repair and maintenance.

☆ Never lock fire exits or block doorways, halls, or stairways. However, keep fire doors closed to slow the spread of smoke and fire.

☆ In the event of an emergency in a building with many floors:

☆ Leave the area quickly following your worksite's evacuation plan. In the event of fire, crawl under the smoke to breathe cleaner air. Test doors for heat before opening them. Never use an elevator when evacuating a burning building. Always go directly to the nearest fire- and smoke-free stairwell.

☆ If you are trapped in the building, stay calm and take steps to protect yourself. If possible, go to a room with an outside window and telephone for help.

☆ Provide any assistance you can to children, the elderly, the injured, co-workers with disabilities, and others who require special assistance.

☆ Stay where rescuers can see you and wave a light-colored cloth to attract attention.

☆ Open windows if possible, but be ready to shut them if smoke rushes in. Stuff clothing, towels, or newspapers around the cracks in doors to prevent smoke from entering your refuge.

The Federal Emergency Management Agency works with state and local communities to develop emergency response plans. They also train citizens and emergency professionals how to respond if there is a crisis.

How To Get Prepared

- ☆ Put together an office phone tree. In the event of an emergency, your office may need to get information to employees quickly. Develop a list of everyone's home phone numbers with instructions for who will call whom. Make sure everyone keeps a printed copy at their home.
- ☆ Make plans to help each other. Determine how you will help each other in the event that public transportation is shut down or thoroughfares are impassable. Offer to temporarily house, transport, or feed your co-workers in case of emergency.

IN YOUR COMMUNITY

Being prepared means knowing what to do if an emergency occurs in your community when you are away from home.

- ☆ Be alert. Get to know your neighbors. Be aware of unusual or abandoned packages or vehicles and of suspicious activities that should be reported to authorities.
- ☆ Develop a list of emergency services and their phone numbers and addresses. Include shelters, food banks, and police and fire departments and distribute the list to neighbors.
- ☆ Find out about community emergency plans. What plans do your children's schools have in place? What plans are in place where you work? Ask local officials to implement an emergency plan if one is not yet in place.
- ☆ Make sure schools and workplaces have updated contact information for your family, including a cell phone number if you have one.
- ☆ Do your part. Research organizations in your community, such as places of worship, schools, fire departments, police departments, and the Red Cross, that work on preparedness efforts. Find out what you can do and volunteer to do it.
- ☆ Make a plan to meet up with family members if an emergency happens while your family is separated. Establish an out-of-town contact, such as a friend or a relative, to whom everyone can call and report. Make sure the contact agrees and that everyone has the number and knows how to dial it. Consider prepaid calling cards and emergency family contact lists for your children. Identify places to meet both close to home and some distance away.

- ☆ Plan for what you may need if you are away from home during an emergency. Keep water, a blanket, and nonperishable food in your car. Always keep your car fuel tank at least half full. Remember that if electricity is interrupted, gas pumps won't work.
- ☆ Be prepared to help others. Take a CPR and first-aid training course or get your neighborhood group to take it together.
- ☆ Join or start a neighborhood group. Find out if your area has a Neighborhood Watch group or community association. If not, work with neighbors to start one. This is a great way to share the preparedness information you learn and to develop neighborhood plans. A new national effort to expand and improve Neighborhood Watch programs will be an important part of the Citizen Corps.
 - ☆ If you participate in Neighborhood Watch, you may qualify to be a member of the Citizen Corps. Ask your local Neighborhood Watch representative for more details or go to www.ncpc.org/2neig.htm if your area does not yet have a Neighborhood Watch.

AT PLACES OF WORSHIP

Places of worship provide a valuable support network and an opportunity to share information about preparedness.

- ☆ Learn about the evacuation plan and security measures at your place of worship. Select a place nearby to meet up with family members if you are separated during an emergency.
- ☆ Find out if your place of worship could be used as a shelter in an emergency. If so, organize a group to collect blankets, pillows, water, food, first-aid supplies, and other emergency needs. Ensure that your congregation knows about the plan.

How To Get Prepared

- ☆ Organize relief efforts to help provide food, shelter, clothing, and medicine in an emergency. You can also make plans to help those outside of your congregation. Ask others to volunteer their skills in medical care, child care, cooking, construction, or organization, and bring them together to talk about where to report and what to do in an emergency.
- ☆ Consider incorporating your place of worship into your Neighborhood Watch programs.
- ☆ Share the information you learn. Hold meetings to discuss preparedness and distribute copies of this guide to your congregation.

AT THE AIRPORT

☆ Allow extra time

- ☆ The heightened security at airports requires more time to properly screen travelers. Travelers should contact their airline to find out how early they should arrive.

- ☆ Take public transportation to the airport if possible.
- ☆ Parking and curbside check-in may be controlled and restricted. Travelers should contact their airline to see if curbside check-in is in place at their airport.

☆ Check-in

- ☆ A government-issued photo ID (federal, state, or local) is required.
- ☆ Have your IDs and boarding passes out and ready as you approach the checkpoint. Travelers may be asked to show this ID at subsequent points, such as at the gate, along with their boarding passes.
- ☆ E-ticket travelers should check with their airline to make sure they have proper documentation. Written confirmation from the airline, such as a letter, fax, or e-mail, may be required.

☆ Screener checkpoints

- ☆ Only ticketed passengers are allowed beyond the screener checkpoints, except for those with specific medical or parental needs.
- ☆ Each traveler is limited to one carry-on bag and one personal bag such as a purse, laptop, or briefcase.
- ☆ All electronic items, such as laptops and cell phones, may be subjected to additional screening.
- ☆ Be prepared to remove your laptop from its travel case so that both can be X-rayed separately.
- ☆ Wear as few metal objects as possible and remove all metal objects before passing through the metal detectors to facilitate the screening.
- ☆ Most airports require passengers to put their coats and jackets through the X-ray conveyor. You'll save time in line if you have it off and ready as you approach.
- ☆ Do not gift-wrap carry-on items; they may need to be opened during security screening.
- ☆ You must transport the following items as checked baggage or risk their confiscation at the X-ray security checkpoint. When in doubt, transport the item in checked baggage.
 - ☆ Knives of any length, composition, or description
 - ☆ Cutting instruments of any kind and composition, including carpet knives, box cutters, and spare blades; any device with a folding or retractable blade; and ice picks, straight razors, double-edged razor blades, metal scissors, and metal nail files
 - ☆ Corkscrews
 - ☆ Baseball/softball bats
 - ☆ Golf clubs
 - ☆ Pool cues
 - ☆ Ski poles
 - ☆ Hockey sticks.

How To Get Prepared

- ☆ The following items are permitted aboard the plane as carry-on items:
 - ☆ Walking canes and umbrellas following inspection
 - ☆ Nail clippers without an attached metal nail file
 - ☆ Safety razors, including disposable razors
 - ☆ Syringes with documented proof of medical need
 - ☆ Tweezers
 - ☆ Eyelash curlers.

☆ At the gate

- ☆ Travelers must be prepared to present a valid photo identification card along with their boarding pass.
- ☆ Travelers and their bags may be subjected to additional screening, including random checks of travelers and their baggage. If you are asked to participate in a random check, please remain polite and cooperate with the requesting official.

☆ At all times

- ☆ Be patient.
- ☆ Keep control of all bags and personal items.
- ☆ Do not bring anything on board for another person unknown to or not traveling with you, however innocent or small the package or item may appear.
- ☆ Report any unattended items in the airport or aircraft to the nearest airport or airline personnel.

☆ On the plane

- ☆ Listen carefully to the safety briefing and follow any instructions from airline personnel.
- ☆ Be aware of your surroundings and report anything suspicious to airline personnel.
- ☆ Review the passenger safety card before takeoff and landing.
- ☆ Be able to locate emergency exits both in front and behind you. Count the rows between you and the nearest front and rear exits.

☆ Make a mental plan of action in case of emergency.

Many of these suggestions are applicable to other modes of transportation. The same vigilance to travel safety should be applied when using buses, trains, subways, cruise ships, and other forms of transportation.

WHILE TRAVELING INTERNATIONALLY

☆ Americans residing abroad or considering travel abroad should monitor current events and review the latest information on the countries they plan to visit. Most important are the bulletins on the Department of State's Web site at www.travel.state.gov. Travelers may also call the nearest U.S. embassy or consulate or the State Department's Overseas Citizens Services at 202-647-5225. Assistance is available at this number 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

☆ When traveling, dress conservatively.

☆ Bring travelers checks and one or two major credit cards instead of cash. Leave a copy of the serial numbers of your travelers checks with a friend or relative at home. Carry your copy with you in a separate place and, as you cash the checks, cross them off the list.

☆ Make two photocopies of your passport identification page, airline tickets, driver's license, and the credit cards. Leave one copy with family or friends at home; pack the other in a place separate from where you carry your valuables. Bring an extra set of passport photos.

☆ To avoid problems when passing through customs, keep medicines in their original, labeled containers. Bring a copy of your prescriptions and the generic names for the drugs. If a medication is unusual or contains narcotics, carry a letter from your doctor attesting to your need to take the drug. If you have any doubt about the legality of carrying a prescription drug into a country, consult the embassy or consulate of that country first.

How To Get Prepared

- ☆ If you wear glasses or contact lenses, pack an extra pair.
- ☆ List your name, address, and telephone numbers inside and outside of each piece of luggage. Use covered luggage tags to avoid casual observation of your identity.
- ☆ Precautions to take while traveling
 - ☆ Use the same common sense when traveling overseas that you would at home. Be especially cautious in or avoid areas where you are more likely to be victimized. These include crowded subways, train stations, elevators, market places, festivals, and marginal areas of cities. Do not use short cuts, alleys, or poorly lighted streets. Don't travel alone at night.
 - ☆ Avoid public demonstrations and other civil disturbances.
 - ☆ Keep a low profile and avoid loud conversations or arguments. Do not discuss travel plans or other personal matters with strangers.
 - ☆ Try to seem purposeful when you move about, even if you are lost. When possible, ask directions only from individuals in authority.
 - ☆ Consider registering with the nearest U.S. embassy or consulate, and continue to monitor the Department of State's Web site (www.travel.state.gov) for information about the country or region in which you are traveling.

How To Respond

Now that you know how to prepare for an emergency, you need to know what to do if there is an emergency or you see or hear something suspicious.

Reporting Emergencies

Any threat or real risk that puts lives in immediate danger is an emergency and should be reported by calling 9-1-1. You can help save lives by calling 9-1-1 when

- ☆ you see or hear about someone carrying a weapon in an unlawful manner, using verbal threats, or suspiciously exiting a secured, non-public area near a train or bus depot, airport, tunnel, bridge, government building, or tourist attraction.
- ☆ you see or hear someone use or threaten to use a gun or other weapon, place a bomb, or release a poisonous substance into the air, water, or food supply.
- ☆ you see fire, smell smoke or gas, or hear an explosion.
- ☆ you see someone forcibly taken or being held by someone holding a weapon or threatening violence.
- ☆ you see a suspicious package abandoned in a crowded public place like an office building, airport, school, or shopping center.
- ☆ you see a suspicious letter or package in your mailbox. Stay away from the letter or package and don't shake, bump, or sniff it. Wash your hands thoroughly with soap and water. See page 5 to learn how to identify suspicious mail.
- ☆ you believe a life or property is in immediate danger.

Be prepared to provide the 911 operator with the following information:

- ☆ Exact location of the threat or danger you observed.
- ☆ As much detail as you can provide about the emergency. Try to stay calm and take note of the circumstances of the event, including physical descriptions of the perpetrators, license plate numbers, and directions of travel.

How To Respond

- ☆ If a person is injured, tell the dispatcher as much as possible about how the injury happened and the person's condition.

Reporting Non-Emergencies

You have a great asset to draw upon—your experience—when deciding what is suspicious. You know what is normal for your neighborhood, workplace, and daily routines. If a behavior or an event seems to be outside the norm or is frightening, let law enforcement authorities know. Just remember, it's your job to watch out and report. Let law enforcement authorities handle the investigation and take further action. That is what they are trained to do.

When reporting suspicious activity, it is helpful to give the most accurate description possible of the persons, situation, vehicles involved, what made you concerned, and where the suspicious persons have gone. Try to remember the exact time and place that you observed the suspicious activity.

Contact the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) immediately in the following situations:

- ☆ You are told of or overhear someone discussing a future plan
 - ☆ for a terrorist act
 - ☆ to use a gun or other weapon in an unlawful manner
 - ☆ to mail or deliver a dangerous package or letter
 - ☆ to set off a bomb or an explosive
 - ☆ to release a poisonous substance into the air, water, or food supply.
- ☆ You hear or know of someone who has bragged or talked about killing or harming citizens in terrorist attacks or who claims membership in an organization that espouses killing innocent people.
- ☆ You observe a pattern of suspicious activity, such as someone unfamiliar to you loitering in a parking lot, government building, or around a school or playground.

If you believe you have information that would help authorities, do not take any action other than to inform your local police department or the FBI as soon as possible. You can contact the FBI by

- ☆ calling your local FBI field office. To find your local office go to www.fbi.gov/contact/fo/info.htm or check inside the front cover of your local phone book.
- ☆ reporting online at www.ifccfbi.gov/complaint/terrorist.asp. To report tips about suspicious mail, visit www.fbi.gov/majcases/anthrax/tips/form.htm.

Conclusion

Securing America requires that each of us works together. Homeland security starts at home. Whether it is leading your family through a fire drill, helping a neighbor learn CPR, or volunteering to be a mentor in your community, every action is appreciated and gets us one step closer to safer communities and a more secure America.

It will take time. But there is no shortage of things to do. Every American has a significant role to play. A small investment in time now will pay big dividends down the road. Years from now, you will be able to say that you did your part to make America not only a safer country, but a better and stronger one.

OUR NATION NEEDS YOU AND THANKS
YOU FOR YOUR COMMITMENT TO BEING UNITED FOR A STRONGER AMERICA.
